

High Park Capital Partners is a search fund established in 2011 by Adrian Bartha and Josh LeBrun. In 2012 they acquired eCompliance, a small eLearning business, and took over the leadership of the company. Over the next 7 years, Adrian and Josh transformed eCompliance into one of the world's leading safety software companies, protecting the employees of companies in hazardous industries all over the globe. In 2019, Alcumus, a leading European software company, purchased a majority interest in the company.

Between 2011 and 2019, High Park Capital investors realized a compounded annual rate of return of over 25%, beating the S&P/TSX by 3.1x over the same period. Today, Adrian remains the CEO of eCompliance and runs Alcumus' North American operations. Josh is now the CEO of Rising Industry Holdings, a business services company in the cannabis and industrial hemp industry.
